Time For A Spiritual Assessment

“Hardly anything else reveals so well the fear and uncertainty among [people] as the length to which they will go to hide their true selves from each other and even from their own eyes,” says A.W. Tozer. For insights into who we really are as Christians, the theologian proposes “rules for self-discovery.” According to Tozer, “we may be known” by these seven things:

- what we want most
- what we think about most
- how we use our money
- what we do with our leisure time
- the company we enjoy
- who and what we admire
- what we laugh at

The “wise Christian” will find other tests, says Tozer, but these are a starting point to reveal if our desires and priorities conflict with God’s will. “Our self-judgment is almost certain to be biased and imperfect,” he adds, yet there’s “every good reason for us to work along with the Holy Spirit in His benign effort to locate us spiritually in order that we may make such amendments as the circumstances demand.”

Writing Our Life With God's Help

A journalist once said you can measure the quality of a piece of writing by the quality of what has been cut. No matter how beautiful or interesting a phrase or sentence is, the piece may be stronger without it.

Evan Moffic applies this wisdom to life in general. Too often we refuse to let something — a habit, a memory, a process — go, even when it no longer serves us. Thinking of our life as a book, we can cut out, edit or rearrange some pages or sentences to reflect our new learning's and growth.

This is not always easy, but we don't have to do it alone. "God is our 'editor-in-chief,'" says Moffic, "and we are part of God's story. [While] God ... gives us free will to decide what to write on the pages of our lives, ... God is always there for conversation and consultation. And God left us a great guidebook called the Bible. Its lessons make our writing shine with truth and beauty." With God's guidance, what will you "write" in the new year?

A Collaboration Across Time and Place

For Christmas Day worship, many churches use Psalm 98. It is fitting, then, that Isaac Watts, who interpreted 132 psalms as hymn texts, based a now-beloved carol on it.

Watts (1674-1748) was a student of language, religion and philosophy. He wanted to make Scripture more relevant to lay people and thought hymns could help. Watts composed more than 600 hymn texts, many still in use. But Psalm 98:4-9, "Joy to the World," needed music to fit its words.

Enter Lowell Mason (1792-1872), an American choir director. He came across Watts' Psalm 98 hymn text and sought inspiration for a melody from the famous oratorio Messiah by George F. Handel (1685-1759). Mason pulled musical phrases from sections of Handel's work, resulting in the tune we now recognize as "Joy to the World."

So it is that three men who lived across three centuries and never met — along with the composer of the original psalm more than two millennia earlier — together produced a hymn to the Christ-child, which millions have sung and continue to love.

Data On Black Economics And Christmas Spending

Submitted by: Wendell Smitherman

“Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in his last public message before he was assassinated talked about redistributing the pain through Economic Withdrawal. We have a purchasing power of over one trillion dollars. But in our sometimes reckless and wasteful spending habits we have failed to pool our resources in a collective manner. It is always wise to watch our spending and stay within our means. By strategically engaging in economic withdrawal during the Christmas season, we could build a better reality. Merchant wealth comes oftentimes by manipulation and exploitation of the emotions of children, parents, families and those we love. These pagan practices have nothing to do with the celebration and observance of Jesus Christ, which is the real reason for the season.

A Prayer for Christmas

The internet reveals little about Wilda English, only that she lived from 1916 to 1997 and once resided in California. No details exist about her family, work or interests. Just this prayer, widely shared online. And it is no small thing. Indeed, the prayer tells much about her faith.

God bless Wilda English for sharing these words with the world. May they continue to inspire many!

*God grant you the light in Christmas, which is faith;
the warmth of Christmas, which is love;
the radiance of Christmas, which is purity;
the righteousness of Christmas, which is justice;
the belief in Christmas, which is truth;
the all of Christmas, which is Christ.*

Christmas Crackups

Leave the Light on

"We'll leave the light on for you," a motel chain once promised. In other words, they were expecting you and looking forward to your stay.

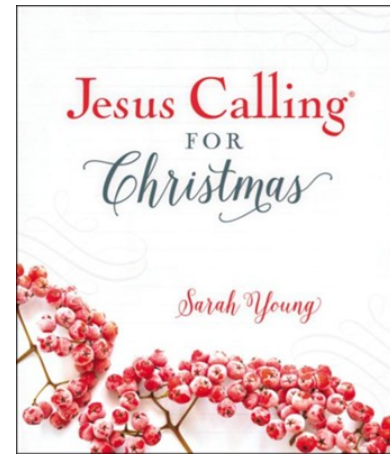

During the time of the high priest Eli, "the lamp of God had not yet gone out" (1 Samuel 3:3). Eli oversaw the tabernacle, so some people say this refers to an actual lamp. But the passage could have a deeper meaning. Although Eli had turned a blind eye to his sons' sins and neglected his duties, God knew that Eli could still be a divine instrument. God knew not to turn off Eli's light. God was expecting Eli to still shine brightly for him, and eventually Eli figured out that Samuel, his young charge, was hearing God's voice.

So if your light seems dim or even burned out, be assured that your pilot light remains on! God has left the light on not just for you but also in you.
